Investment Objective and Strategy

The fundamental investment objective of First Trust AlphaDEX™ U.S. Technology Sector Index ETF (the “First Trust ETF”) is to replicate, to the extent possible, the performance of the StrataQuant® Technology Index (“Index”), net of expenses.

The investment strategy of the First Trust ETF is to invest in and hold the constituent securities of the Index in the same proportion as they are reflected in the Index or securities intended to replicate the performance of such Index. The Index results from applying the AlphaDEX™ methodology to the Russell 1000® Index, a market index representing the large and mid-capitalization segment of the U.S. equity universe, and then selecting the constituent securities for the Index from those qualifying stocks included in the Technology Sector.

The Manager may use a sampling methodology in selecting investments for the First Trust ETF. As an alternative or in conjunction with investing in and holding constituent securities, the First Trust ETF may also invest in other securities to obtain exposure to the constituent securities of the applicable Index in a manner that is consistent with the investment objective and investment strategy of the First Trust ETF.

In this case, the First Trust ETF may also obtain exposure to the applicable Index by holding securities of a US-listed index ETF, First Trust Technology AlphaDEX® Fund (NYSE Arca ticker: FXL), of an affiliate of the Manager, which replicates or substantially replicates the applicable Index.

Risk

The risks associated with an investment in the First Trust ETF remain as discussed in the First Trust ETF’s most recent prospectus. There have been no significant changes during the reporting year that affected the overall level of risk associated with the First Trust ETF. The First Trust ETF provides exposure to the technology sector of the U.S. equity market in either a non-U.S. currency hedged and U.S. currency hedged manner.

Unlike the benchmark and the hedged benchmark, the First Trust ETF’s returns are net of fees and expenses.

As of June 30, 2024, the Technology sector accounted for 36.10% of the weight of the Russell 1000® Index. The benchmark outperformed the Russell 1000® Index (CAD), which returned 18.55%. The hedged benchmark outperformed the Russell 1000® Index (USD), which returned 14.24%.

As of June 30, 2024, the portfolio held 96 equity securities. The top ten equity holdings accounted for 19.68% of the total NAV. The AlphaDEX™ stock selection process is a rules-based process and can result in industry weightings that differ from that of the benchmark and the hedged benchmark.

The First Trust ETF underperformed the benchmark during the period due to stock selection, particularly within the Software and Computer Services and Technology Hardware and Equipment industries.

Management Report of Fund Performance

For the six-month period ended June 30, 2024

The U.S. dollar appreciated 3.54% against the Canadian dollar from December 31, 2023, to June 30, 2024. FHQ.F hedges its exposure to the U.S. dollar.

The top five stocks by contribution to return were NVIDIA Corporation, Vertiv Holdings Co, CrowdStrike Holdings, Inc., Broadcom Inc., and AppLovin Corporation. The bottom five stocks by contribution to return were Concentrix Corporation, UiPath Inc., Unity Software Inc., Globant S.A., and NCR Voyix Corporation.

Recent Developments

The Russell 1000® Index returned 14.24%, including dividends, in the first half of the year. The U.S. dollar appreciated relative to the Canadian dollar, meaning the index gained 18.55% over the same period measured in Canadian dollars. The gains were concentrated in a few mega-cap companies from the Information Technology, Communication Services, and Consumer Discretionary sectors. NVIDIA, in particular, benefitted from booming demand for its artificial intelligence (AI) chips, which sent its market capitalization over $3 trillion, joining Apple and Microsoft. As a result of the AI-driven rally, Information Technology and Communication Services were the best-performing sectors during the period. Materials and Real Estate, cyclical sectors that didn't benefit from the AI rally, were the period's two worst-performing sectors. Real Estate stocks also suffered from particular weakness in the US commercial real estate market. The overall market continued its ascent despite resilient inflation that stayed above 3% throughout the period. Given its resilience, the market continued to lower its expectations for Fed interest rate cuts this year. The market expected as many as six rate cuts to start the year, and halfway through, the Fed has yet to cut rates this year. Consequently, interest rates rose during the period. The 10-year Treasury yield finished the period at 4.40%, well above 3.88% where it began the year. Overall, the Russell 1000® Index finished the period trading at a 23.7 P/E multiple with a 1.32% dividend yield, more expensive than 21.7 and 1.46%, respectively, at the end of 2023.

(1) Management expense ratio is based on total expenses (excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) for the stated period/year and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period/year.

(2) The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period/year.

(3) The First Trust ETF's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the First Trust ETF's portfolio advisor manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the First Trust ETF buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the period/year. The higher a First Trust ETF's portfolio turnover rate in a period/year, the greater the trading cost payable by the First Trust ETF in the period/year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the period/year. There is not necessarily a relationship between high turnover rate and the performance of a First Trust ETF.

Management Fees

The First Trust ETF will pay the Manager a management fee of 0.70% based on the average daily NAV of the First Trust ETF. The management fee, plus applicable taxes including HST, will be accrued daily and paid monthly in arrears. The Manager may, from time to time in its discretion, waive all or a portion of the management fee charged at any given time.
