Investment Objective and Strategy

The fundamental investment objective of First Trust Global Risk Managed Income Index ETF (the “First Trust ETF”) is to replicate, to the extent possible, the performance of the NASDAQ Global Risk Managed Income Index<sup>SM</sup> (the “Index”), net of expenses.

The investment strategy of the First Trust ETF is to invest in and hold the constituent securities of the Index in the same proportion as they are reflected in the Index or securities intended to replicate the performance of such Index. The First Trust ETF may also hold cash and cash equivalents or other money market instruments to fund current liabilities.

The Index seeks to provide exposure to a risk managed, globally diversified income portfolio which generates a high yield for the risk taken and consists of liquid, income-bearing ETFs and other exchange traded products across various asset classes.

The Manager may use a sampling methodology in selecting investments for the First Trust ETF. As an alternative or in conjunction with investing in and holding constituent securities, the First Trust ETF may also invest in other securities to obtain exposure to the constituent securities of the applicable Index in a manner that is consistent with the investment objective and investment strategy of the First Trust ETF.

Risk

The risks associated with an investment in the First Trust ETF remain as discussed in the First Trust ETF’s most recent prospectus. There have been no significant changes during the reporting year that affected the overall level of risk associated with the First Trust ETF.

Results of Operations

General

The First Trust ETF’s total net asset value as of December 31, 2025, was $15,578,735 or $18.31 per unit. The First Trust ETF’s total net asset value as of December 31, 2024, was $11,418,642 or $17.55 per unit.

For the year ended December 31, 2025, the First Trust ETF paid total cash distributions of $0.7795 per unit. In addition, the First Trust ETF declared cash distributions of $0.0600 per unit for record date of December 31, 2025, with payment date of January 8, 2026.

Investment Performance

For the year ended December 31, 2025, the First Trust ETF returned 8.77% compared to the Index return of 9.34%. Unlike the Index, the First Trust ETF’s returns are net of fees and expenses.

The return was positive for the first half of the year. Performance for the First Trust ETF exhibited a mostly positive trend. During the first quarter, performance was positive across January and February. Performance was similar in the second quarter, with gains in May and June and only one monthly loss in April.

The return was also positive for the second half of the year. Performance for the First Trust ETF exhibited a mostly positive trend. During the third quarter, performance was positive across all three months. Performance was more mixed in the fourth quarter, with a gains in October and November, and a loss in December.

The First Trust ETF began 2025 with a 25% exposure to equity and ended the year at 21%. This equity exposure is unique to the Index and differentiates the First Trust ETF from a more typical bond fund. In the chart below, we can see that the relative strength of equities (using the SPY ETF as a proxy) versus government bonds (using the TLT ETF as a proxy) was positive for much of the year beginning in April, after a negative trend in the first quarter. The First Trust ETF generated positive excess return performance compared to a more standard Bond fund in every month of 2025 other than April and September. This equity exposure can also provide benefits, as we can see from the differentiated returns in the monthly return chart.

Management Report of Fund Performance

For the year ended December 31, 2025

Rate: a fixed income product that is dominated by the government bond holdings
Credit: corporate bond focused that are usually for those rated as investment graded
HY: High Yield (junk) bonds, which also include preferred and emerging market bonds.

The security weights of the First Trust ETF are determined by Newfound Research using their proprietary model. Index Securities with a higher yield-to-risk profile and positive price momentum are weighted more heavily within the Index. Over the course of 2025, the model added exposure to Rate (government bond) products and High Yield, while lowering exposure to Equity products and Credit (investment grade corporate bonds).

As of December 31, 2025, the First Trust ETF held 79% in fixed income, up 4% since end of 2024, with equity exposure down 4%.

The First Trust ETF portfolio experienced large changes to its allocations across credit categories during the year. Government bonds ("Rate") increased by 8%. High Yield bonds increased by 4%, with investment grade corporate bonds ("Credit") decreasing by 9%.

There were material changes across Geographies, specifically Canada exposure increasing by 14%, offset by US exposure decreasing 12%.

On the individual security level, the iShares Convertible Bond Index ETF had the largest increase, rising from 9.70% to 14.84% over the course of the year. The largest reduction in weight was for the BMO High Yield US Corporate Bond Hedged to CAD ETF, which was reduced by 8.87%.

Recent Developments

After peaking in late 2022, measures of inflation such as the U.S. Consumer Price Index flattened and started to drift downward throughout much of 2023. Despite a temporary uptick at the beginning of 2024, the CPI year over year change (YoY) cooled back down towards 3.2% in July 2024, with the core CPI even falling below 3% which enabled continuation of the bull market in equities that began in 2023; both measures have been fairly stable since then. With inflation largely stabilized, the Fed started cutting rates in September of 2024, delivering 100 bps of total rate cuts by year-end. The Fed delivered an incremental 75 bps of rate cuts in 2025. U.S. 10-Year Government bonds saw rates drop during 2025, down about 40 bps to 4.17%. In contrast, Canadian 10-year rates rose about 20 bps for the year, ending around 3.43%.

Despite elevated volatility and sharp drawdowns in the first quarter into early April related to new US tariff policies, Canadian equities have staged a remarkable rally, with the S&P/TSX Composite Index up 31.7% in 2025 on a total return basis, outperforming the S&P 500 which was up 17.9%. If this rally continues, the Index can maintain a healthy allocation to equities while attempting to generate balanced income for long-term investors. If a recession does occur, then the Index can rotate into assets with lower risk to attempt to cushion the losses from a bear market.

(1) Management expense ratio is based on total expenses (excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) for the stated year, including the First Trust ETF's proportionate share of the MER of any underlying funds in which the First Trust ETF has invested, and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the year.

(2) The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the year. This includes the First Trust ETF's proportionate share of the commissions of any underlying funds in which the First Trust ETF has invested.

A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the First Trust ETF buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher a First Trust ETF's portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading cost payable by the First Trust ETF in the year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year.
